

---

How to upload photos in your profile?

Posted by linsi - 2007/07/17 17:17

---

hi john

one of our members told me he could not upload photos in his profile. Maybe we could post on how to help them.

also in the my picture tab- in the profile page, it does not support some jpg pictures-please tell us how?

=====

Re:How to upload photos in your profile?

Posted by linsi - 2007/07/17 17:20

---

In the My Picture Tab it says:

This tab contains a basic no-frills image Gallery for CB profiles

Can you please help us understand this one john?

Maybe this is the reason why others donot have uploaded iamges, maybe :unsure:

=====

Re:How to upload photos in your profile?

Posted by Sandvand - 2007/07/17 20:50

---

It is very internal language, I know, and I try to figure out how to change it. Bare with me - my technical knowledge is not always that great.

What it says is that you can have a basic picture gallery on your profile page. CB is abbreviation for "Community Builder" - the software running the community functionality on Asia Observer.

What is more important:
To upload pictures all you need to do is to click on "Submit new gallery entry".

You will then get a form you fill out. Browse to the picture you want to upload on your community,select it and then "Submit Gallery Entry" and you should be done.

I encourage more of you to do this. And I will try to make it even simpler.

JohnB)

=====

Re:How to upload photos in your profile?

Posted by Jacques - 2007/07/17 21:06

---

Hello John,

- 1) Can we put several pictures or just one ?
- 2) By the way. Is it possible to insert several picture in the same reply on a forum ?
- 3) How to include pictures (or personal smiles) in the middle of a text in a forum ? I saw that Linsi is doing that.
- 4) Out of this topic, did you see my house in Featured member 26 ?
- 5) I cannot find where you explained how to add a friend in our profile

---

Re:How to upload photos in your profile?

Posted by linsi - 2007/07/18 00:17

Sandvand wrote:

What it says is that you can have a basic picture gallery on your profile page.
CB is abbreviation for "Community Builder" - the software running the community functionality on Asia Observer.

I encourage more of you to do this. And I will try to make it even simpler.

JohnB)

So AO is using the CB software, but I found out that not all jpg's or jpeg's can be uploaded. I tried it but it doesn't work, when I tried photos from my webcam that was the time it worked.

Maybe the software has some incompatibilities with some photos? :unsure:

---

Re:How to upload photos in your profile?

Posted by linsi - 2007/07/18 00:23

My picture tab says:

Your current quota marks: 2/10 items 59/1024 Kbytes (5% consumed - 95% free)]

john,

can you please tell us more? does this mean 2 out of 10 images?

59 out of 1024 Kbytes?

that means we are allowed 10 images for 1024 Kbytes?

Post edited by: linsi, at: 2007/07/18 00:28

