
Innovative Intro

Posted by Paradoxan - 2008/01/15 17:17

Looking from a wider view/angle:

Innovation is the key to human advancement, expanding of knowledge is the vanguard of progress to a higher level of standard. Nations that have innovative incentives will move forward with limitless "possibilities" that will take the human species to new fields, new methods, new understandings and conquer new frontiers. For millenniums humans are eager to understand the vast universe in which we live in. Generations after Generations human endeavor in the quest to new heights, new knowledge and new ideas in probing the possibilities and searching for answers of the "unknown". Paradoxans play a major role in the search for happiness and understanding. Humans have little knoweledge of the Oceans that we live in let alone to understand the deep space of the "bizarre/strange" universe. Now, scientists are finding "other" planets that revolve around "other" sun/star. Galaxies after Galaxies are being found in the powerful telescopes of mankind. Do not think "Solar System" is the only system of this vast universe. There are many "systems" in the universe that we humans don't know. Just because we don't know or see it doesn't mean it's not there.

Just my first note of concept embedded in this forum called BURMA (a small nation from the 3rd Planet of Solar System).

=====

Re:Innovative Intro

Posted by Mynmyat - 2008/01/15 17:35

Welcome Paradoxan, welcome. Let us see your genius insights and words of wisdom. Proceed Paradoxan Proceed! Researching the unknown is the essential essence of progress. Do talk about more of the "Paradoxical Planets". Enable and Enlighten us with your innovative insights. Be "creative sir for we all are little creators created by God"

Paradoxan wrote:

Looking from a wider view/angle:

Innovation is the key to human advancement, expanding of knowledge is the vanguard of progress to a higher level of standard. Nations that have innovative incentives will move forward with limitless "possibilities" that will take the human species to new fields, new methods, new understandings and conquer new frontiers. For millenniums humans are eager to understand the vast universe in which we live in. Generations after Generations human endeavor in the quest to new heights, new knowledge and new ideas in probing the possibilities and searching for answers of the "unknown". Paradoxans play a major role in the search for happiness and understanding. Humans have little knoweledge of the Oceans that we live in let alone to understand the deep space of the "bizarre/strange" universe. Now, scientists are finding "other" planets that revolve around "other" sun/star. Galaxies after Galaxies are being found in the powerful telescopes of mankind. Do not think "Solar System" is the only system of this vast universe. There are many "systems" in the universe that we humans don't know. Just because we don't know or see it doesn't mean it's not there.

Just my first note of concept embedded in this forum called BURMA (a small nation from the 3rd Planet of Solar System).

=====

Re:Innovative Intro

Posted by Mynmyat - 2008/01/15 18:19

Sir Paradoxan,

Please allow me to ask you my humble question. Please Sir! Would you kindly, gently and politely answer my simple short question in an extremely civilized manner? What do you think about Burma or Myanmar some others call?

With utmost respect and immense honor,

Mynmyat (one of the Paradoxans too)

=====

Re:Innovative Intro

Posted by Paradoxan - 2008/01/15 18:23

Burma or Myanmar is in a mess and mayhem with monks so far!

Mynmyat wrote:
Sir Paradoxan,

Please allow me to ask you my humble question. Please Sir! Would you kindly, gently and politely answer my simple short question in an extremely civilized manner? What do you think about Burma or Myanmar some others call?

With utmost respect and immense honor,

Mynmyat (one of the Paradoxans too)

=====

Re:Innovative Intro

Posted by Mynmyat - 2008/01/15 18:40

Sir Paradoxan,

Another humble question sir. What do you think of the Bombings in Burma (not Iraq)?

Regards,

Mynmyat.

=====

Re:Innovative Intro

Posted by Paradoxan - 2008/01/15 18:42

They are pointing their fingers or blaming at each other.

Mynmyat wrote:
Sir Paradoxan,

Another humble question sir. What do you think of the Bombings in Burma (not Iraq)?

Regards,

Mynmyat.

=====

Re:Innovative Intro

Posted by Jacques - 2008/01/15 18:52

Hi Paradoxan

What is your answer to Mynmyat ?

=====

Re:Innovative Intro

Posted by Paradoxan - 2008/01/15 19:01

Jacques,

My answers to Mynmyat had been delivered as you can see now. As he had requested my "words of wisdom" I am politely and respectfully respond to him in a very responsive and civilized manner.

PARADOXAN the "Game Player" of world's political field. B)

Jacques wrote:
Hi Paradoxan

What is your answer to Mynmyat ?

Post edited by: Paradoxan, at: 2008/01/15 19:29

=====

Re:Innovative Intro

Posted by Mynmyat - 2008/01/15 19:16

Thank you very much Sir Paradoxan. You had been very helpful and responsive from the very beginning. Your answers are short to the point, effective and insightful. You are indeed is genius! When ever I had questions I will come to you for your wisdom sir. You are very creative and very impressive sir.

=====

Re:Innovative Intro

Posted by kmyaing - 2008/01/15 19:58

Dear friends,

If I may add, what the scientists of today are discovering day by day have been known to the infinite numbers of Buddhas and Pacea Buddhas that have appeared to teach us the Dhamma.

All Buddhas say the same thing: infinite universes.

However, the Pali word Charkravala has a definition that is unique. Chakra means wheel and vala means turn.

This word is the description of the galactic spiral.

My two cents worth.

Km

=====

Re:Innovative Intro

Posted by Paradoxan - 2008/01/15 20:41

As a Christian and Christian point of view, this is my understanding. In religions there are similarities. Most religions teach about laws, love, peace, good, bad, evil etc. Same thing with the universe or universes. It is interesting many astronomers are finding many planets that goes around Stars. The very concept of the Big Bang Theory where many scientists now accept is a point where a powerful force busted into gas, dust and atmospheric conditions create galaxies into universe/universes. Each galaxies have billions of stars and stars itself have planets/moons of its own. I am very interested in the wider picture. In other words in universal (my invention for that word will be "universic") view. I am amazed that the current Administration of USA or before that, ignore the exploration of outer space like Mars, Jupiter etc and its moons and beyond extensively. All they are doing since the landing of man on the moon in end of 1960s is space shuttle and space station which is very close to earth. In other words they are exploring an eye lashes length of view and thus the search for knowledge of the universe or life is very restricted to near Earth. It is very near sighted and narrow minded if humans confined into small spaces or boundaries for in Christian faith, God had created human in his image thus the brilliance of human mind is limitless and will advance as time goes by. Some human minds (like Einstein) challenge and search the mind of God. Infinite numbers of Buddhas or Pacea Buddhas have minds of their own will have insights (they have wisdom) that are deep and outreaching to the stars, planets, moons and galaxies we know today. When Jesus Christ was born at Bethlehem, three "wise men" (men of wisdom) from the east (Asia?) came to honor him. Humans, no matter which generation or time/era it may be, will explore and think about the heavenly bodies past, present and future.

In Christianity there are prophets or saints or writers/authors of the Bible and they wrote it in encoded ways that even in this modern age and era scientists still find it fascinating and compelling either by computerized code breaking or scientific findings that traces down to the "foretold" prophecies of the philosophical prophets of ancient times.

=====

Re:Innovative Intro

Posted by Mynmyat - 2008/01/15 21:07

Please allow me to add a fistful of dollars! First MAN was created by God from the DUST and second, life was puff into the MAN's nose from God as MIND/SPIRIT and third the MAN made from DUST become alive with LIFE when MIND/SPIRIT was puffed, enter through his nose from God. So the SPIRIT/MIND that comes from God belongs to God (image of God) and the BODY of MAN that was made from DUST belongs to DUST in the end when life ends (dead). Life ends when SPIRIT/MIND parted from BODY. As for WOMAN, God sees MAN is not perfect without a partner or companion so while the MAN is asleep, God take out one rib from the MAN and create WOMAN from the MAN and that is why WOMAN belongs to MAN and become the companion of MAN. If you check your ribs (man's ribs) one side is one rib missing or one side is one rib less than the other side.

Mind over body or body over mind? Who is commanding who?

=====

Re:Innovative Intro

Posted by Jacques - 2008/01/16 00:02

I am lived in several Buddhist countries in south-east Asia and in Sri Lanka.

I was astonished by how many temples have a tooth of the Buddha

This man had a very strong dentition :laugh:

Don't worry, we have the same with Chritian saints :side:

=====

Re:Innovative Intro

Posted by Mynmyat - 2008/01/16 15:37

What about Buddha or Buddhas' "hair/hairs"? Every where too? Just a thought.

=====

Re:Innovative Intro

Posted by Mynmyat - 2008/01/16 15:58

Sir Paradoxan,

Please allow me to ask you a question about the earth, moon and the Sun/Star. Sir, why is it there is only ONE moon, ONE Sun for our Earth? Why? Is it possible there are more than one moon and one sun/star to other planets? Not that I am greedy but it is troubling me why our planet is so freak out in the entire universe and unlike or unique from "others"?

Waiting for your response sir,

Mynmyat.

=====

Re:Innovative Intro

Posted by Paradoxan - 2008/01/18 03:05

Intelligent Design:

The earth had to be at the right distance, temperature, position, mass, size, appropriate satellite to create maximum condition to support life. 93million miles from one star/sun, one moon satellite and 23 degrees slanting/tilting makes the earth in a perfect position to accommodate life supporting systems, atmosphere and weather. Even humans need to have the right temperature to feel good, healthy and normal. Human inner temperature of 98.6 degrees to be exact. In earth's situation one moon is sufficient and the size of the moon depends upon the size and nearness of the planet in which the moon orbits and so is the sun/star. All factors in detail and precise manner must be obtain to create this particular planet to be an oasis or haven of life supporting environment in this vast and empty space. Of course there are planets with more than one moon in fact Jupiter, the largest planet of our solar system has 60 moons and also scientists found out there are even alien planets that are circling 2 Suns/Stars and the fact is these planets does not supports life in the sense of our understanding/standard/knowledge. These are just a few out of many things that need to be in place for right conditions for life to prosper.

Scientists have found hundreds of alien Planets, 200 in total so far. "51Pegasi b" is the first alien planet to be found. Roughly the size of Planet Jupiter of our solar system. Definitely there are more in the grand context of our universe waiting to be discovered. Some may say it is lunatic to look for planets for planets are a lot fainter or dimmer than stars/suns and the glare of the stars makes it more difficult to see. "51Pegasi b" is much closer than the planet Mercury (the first planet of the solar system) is to our Sun/Star. Second alien planet found is "70 Virginus b" (spelling?) 59 light years from earth from constellation Virgo. This planet is huge for its mass is 7 times larger than Jupiter. "Trace/Tracy? 4" alien planet is twice as big as Jupiter. "HD 189733 b" is 60 light years from earth and "HD 80606 b" is 200 light years away from earth from constellation ursa major and so on.

Mynmyat wrote:
Sir Paradoxan,

Please allow me to ask you a question about the earth, moon and the Sun/Star. Sir, why is it there is only ONE moon, ONE Sun for our Earth? Why? Is it possible there are more than one moon and one sun/star to other planets? Not that I am greedy but it is troubling me why our planet is so freak out in the entire universe and unlike or unique from "others"?

Waiting for your response sir,

Mynmyat.

Re:Innovative Intro

Posted by Paradoxan - 2008/01/18 17:48

Judgment:

In human aspect, judgment is vital and pivotal for a judgment can change a lot of things and, create circumstances for change. Change is inevitable for we as humans live on this 3rd planet of our solar system which depends upon change. Looking from a wider view can see the full picture and looking from a narrow view will only see part of the picture. Some are saying for the people of Burma to change their habits, behavior, attitudes and so on but change is realistic only when it is done from the top. The current ruling leaders of Burma which happens to be military men does not change their stand and keep on ruling with "poor" judgment. What is the definition of "judgment"? Here is the explanation from the dictionary. Judgment means.....(quote).....1 a: a formal utterance of an authoritative opinion b: an opinion so pronounced2 a formal decision given by a court b (1): an obligation (as a debt) created by the decree of a court (2): a certificate evidencing such a decree3 acapitalized : the final judging of humankind by God b: a divine sentence or decision; specifically : a calamity held to be sent by God4 a: the process of forming an opinion or evaluation by discerning and comparing b: an opinion or estimate so formed5 a: the capacity for judging : discernment b: the exercise of this capacity6: a proposition stating something believed or asserted (end quote)

How long did the "poor" judgment rulers rule Burma? Ask yourself. If these years are ruled by "poor" judgment then it is not surprise to see the people of Burma are poor in knowledge, attitudes, civilization, education, economy etc. The person or persons who think the people can change without the changing of the rulers from "poor" judgment rulers to "sound" judgment rulers it is kinda hard to expect real changes, better changes for the people of Burma and Burma itself. What is the meaning of "sound"? Sound means.....(quote).....1 a: free from injury or disease b: free from flaw, defect, or decay2: solid firm; also : stable3 a: free from error, fallacy, or misapprehension <sound reasoning> b: exhibiting or based on thorough knowledge and experience <sound scholarship> c: legally valid  d: logically valid and having true premises e: agreeing with accepted views : orthodox4 a: thorough b: deep and undisturbed  c: hard severe 5: showing good judgment or sense <sound advice>

synonyms see healthy, valid (end quote)

The reason I am emphasizing the word "judgment" is some of the authors in this Burma forum talks about how to change Burma "peacefully". Well, to change Burma "peacefully" it has to be done starting from the Top (rulers) to the Bottom (people) and not the other way around. Expecting the people to change and leaving the rulers intact in their "false" perception and "poor" judgment which can create consequences like unpleasant chaos for the people and the nation. As long as keeping the top intact with the continuation of their "false" perception and "poor" judgment it is naïve, stupid, idiotic and ignorant to expect the bottom to change for better.

Choosing the right or sound judgment needs "ability". If a nation, any nation is ruled by a person who has no "ability" then it is common sense where we don't need a rocket scientist to understand that he/she (ruler) can create chaos for that nation and the people. What are leaders for? to lead the nation and the people, isn't it? In other words, the destiny of a nation and the people depends upon the "ability" of leader/leaders who can make "sound" judgment.

Post edited by: Paradoxan, at: 2008/01/18 18:54

Re:Innovative Intro

Posted by Mynmyat - 2008/01/19 17:27

Short to the point Sir Paradoxan,

There's a saying in Burmese....."Thit Ta Bin Kaung, Knyet Ta Taung Nar" meaning ONE good big shady tree, 10,000 birds can take refuge and rest on it's many branches.

Same goes with ONE good, smart leader, 50 million people can live in prosperity, progress and happy life.

What is the status of Burma and Burmese people or Myanmar and Myanmarese now? No need to elaborate with all the long and boring propaganda bull craps. The status of Burma among the International standard will tell the "quality/ability" of Burma's current rulers/leaders. The worst part of it is the good things or natural resources of Burma is NOT for the Burmese but for the Chinese or Thais or Indios etc. In other words Burma is NOT for Burmese and Myanmar is NOT for Myanmars. All the good gems, good rice, good foods (sea foods), good timbers, good gas/fuel and so on and on is NOT for the people of Burma/Myanmar, they are for China, India, Thailand and any country that gives money to a handful of military top brass. "thunderboats from Myanmar" can croaks all he wants from his drought bitten/evaporating little pond for the TRUTH remains the same. The status (of Burma) speaks for itself and TRUTH stands. Case Closed!

Paradoxan wrote:

Judgment:

In human aspect, judgment is vital and pivotal for a judgment can change a lot of things and, create circumstances for change. Change is inevitable for we as humans live on this 3rd planet of our solar system which depends upon change. Looking from a wider view can see the full picture and looking from a narrow view will only see part of the picture. Some are saying for the people of Burma to change their habits, behavior, attitudes and so on but change is realistic only when it is done from the top. The current ruling leaders of Burma which happens to be military men does not change their stand and keep on ruling with "poor" judgment. What is the definition of "judgment"? Here is the explanation from the dictionary. Judgment means.....(quote).....1 a: a formal utterance of an authoritative opinion b: an opinion so pronounced2 a formal decision given by a court b (1): an obligation (as a debt) created by the decree of a court (2): a certificate evidencing such a decree3 acapitalized : the final judging of humankind by God b: a divine sentence or decision; specifically : a calamity held to be sent by God4 a: the process of forming an opinion or evaluation by discerning and comparing b: an opinion or estimate so formed5 a: the capacity for judging : discernment b: the exercise of this capacity6: a proposition stating something believed or asserted (end quote)

How long did the "poor" judgment rulers rule Burma? Ask yourself. If these years are ruled by "poor" judgment then it is not surprise to see the people of Burma are poor in knowledge, attitudes, civilization, education, economy etc. The person or persons who think the people can change without the changing of the rulers from "poor" judgment rulers to "sound" judgment rulers it is kinda hard to expect real changes, better changes for the people of Burma and Burma itself. What is the meaning of "sound"? Sound means.....(quote).....1 a: free from injury or disease b: free from flaw, defect, or decay2: solid firm; also : stable3 a: free from error, fallacy, or misapprehension <sound reasoning> b: exhibiting or based on thorough knowledge and experience <sound scholarship> c: legally valid  d: logically valid and having true premises e: agreeing with accepted views : orthodox4 a: thorough b: deep and undisturbed  c: hard severe 5: showing good judgment or sense <sound advice>
synonyms see healthy, valid (end quote)

The reason I am emphasizing the word "judgment" is some of the authors in this Burma forum talks about how to change

Burma "peacefully". Well, to change Burma "peacefully" it has to be done starting from the Top (rulers) to the Bottom (people) and not the other way around. Expecting the people to change and leaving the rulers intact in their "false" perception and "poor" judgment which can create consequences like unpleasant chaos for the people and the nation. As long as keeping the top intact with the continuation of their "false" perception and "poor" judgment it is naïve, stupid, idiotic and ignorant to expect the bottom to change for better.

Choosing the right or sound judgment needs "ability". If a nation, any nation is ruled by a person who has no "ability" then it is common sense where we don't need a rocket scientist to understand that he/she (ruler) can create chaos for that nation and the people. What are leaders for? to lead the nation and the people, isn't it? In other words, the destiny of a nation and the people depends upon the "ability" of leader/leaders who can make "sound" judgment.

Post edited by: Paradoxan, at: 2008/01/18 18:54

Re:Innovative Intro

Posted by Paradoxan - 2008/01/20 18:10

Mynmyat,

Here is the detail account on "Saffron/September Revolution" embedded, recorded into human history and world's online Encyclopedia Wikipedia. Check it out!

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/2007_Burmese_anti-government_protests

Mynmyat wrote:

Short to the point Sir Paradoxan,

There's a saying in Burmese....."Thit Ta Bin Kaung, Knyet Ta Taung Nar" meaning ONE good big shady tree, 10,000 birds can take refuge and rest on it's many branches.

Same goes with ONE good, smart leader, 50 million people can live in prosperity, progress and happy life.

What is the status of Burma and Burmese people or Myanmar and Myanmarese now? No need to elaborate with all the long and boring propaganda bull craps. The status of Burma among the International standard will tell the "quality/ability" of Burma's current rulers/leaders. The worst part of it is the good things or natural resources of Burma is NOT for the Burmese but for the Chinese or Thais or Indios etc. In other words Burma is NOT for Burmese and Myanmar is NOT for Myanmars. All the good gems, good rice, good foods (sea foods), good timbers, good gas/fuel and so on and on is NOT for the people of Burma/Myanmar, they are for China, India, Thailand and any country that gives money to a handful of military top brass. "thunderboats from Myanmar" can croaks all he wants from his drought bitten/evaporating little pond for the TRUTH remains the same. The status (of Burma) speaks for itself and TRUTH stands. Case Closed!

Post edited by: Paradoxan, at: 2008/01/20 18:16

Re:Innovative Intro

Posted by Mynmyat - 2008/01/21 16:00

Sir Paradoxan,

Thanks for the informative link. I had a question. What do you think about SPDC (military regime) supporters in this forum for instances like "thunderboats" "MokeJoke" "Ohnbone (yearly secret affair)" from Deutschland or Lar Lar Land or "Oddman1" or "ma than" to name a few??? Give us your insight on these active authors (activists) for monks murderers.

Eagerly wanting to know your insight Sir,

Mynmyat.

Paradoxan wrote:

Mynmyat,

Here is the detail account on "Saffron/September Revolution" embedded, recorded into human history and world's online Encyclopedia Wikipedia. Check it out!

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/2007_Burmese_anti-government_protests

Re:Innovative Intro

Posted by Paradoxan - 2008/01/22 05:33

=====

ALL of them have "mental deficiencies". Any body who thinks for whatever the reason is, killing Buddhist monks is good, needs to check up with psychiatrists. These blind or brain damaged, self-deluded males/females does not know what is good and what is bad. Ruling the nation without proper legal procedure not to mention discarding the people's wishes need to examine their mental status. Supporting the killings, raping, dislodging, putting into detention or jails their own citizens without any trials is criminal behavior and yet these people support these kind of conduct? they should be track/hunt down and arrested (when democratic government take over) and put them into "Insein Jail" and let's see how they will react. Put them into the opposition shoes and let them taste the sweetness of Insein jail. ALL of them flock together and sing the same tune reveals their true identity, moral quality and personality. Them and their bosses have no shame nor dignity let alone to mention the worthiness of being a human being. Some animals behave much nicer than them.

Mynmyat wrote:
Sir Paradoxan,

Thanks for the informative link. I had a question. What do you think about SPDC (military regime) supporters in this forum for instances like "thunderboats" "MokeJoke" "Ohnbone (yearly secret affair)" from Deutschland or Lar Lar Land or "Oddman1" or "ma than" to name a few??? Give us your insight on these active authors (activists) for monks murderers.

Eagerly wanting to know your insight Sir,

Mynmyat.

Re:Innovative Intro

Posted by Mynmyat - 2008/01/27 18:29

Sir Paradoxan,

Give us your insight and enlighten us on the exchange between "thunderboats" and "Kkyaing"?
http://www.asiaobserver.com/component/option,com_fireboard/Itemid,453/func,view/id,4726/catid,3/

With supreme respect,

Mynmyat.

Re:Innovative Intro

Posted by Paradoxan - 2008/01/28 05:21

Their exchange is like a "blind man leading the blind" in thick rain forest jungle where full of vipers and cobras roam!

Mynmyat wrote:
Sir Paradoxan,

Give us your insight and enlighten us on the exchange between "thunderboats" and "Kkyaing"?
http://www.asiaobserver.com/component/option,com_fireboard/Itemid,453/func,view/id,4726/catid,3/

With supreme respect,

Mynmyat.

=====