Everyone of us has something that pisses us off. So tell us, what is that something that strongly annoys you?

Me, I get easily annoyed by people who are too all knowing but very closed minded. :angry:

I get annoyed with people who lay rules but practise them poorly; moreover, bend those rules to their advantage.

people have all their own weaknesses, i may say tolerance is the word..i have to sight one example of the many instances i was pissed off by the system.

I took up nursing as a second course, the education system gave me a hard time..

when i took the battery test for internship, i got good scores but was turned down by the dean..because they discriminated me as a second courser, that was 1994 i was compelled to enroll in another nursing school when i was officially enrolled, and was about to enter internship, i was sent to the department of education, there i met beaurocracy...

the remark of one of the staff was this

" aha you are taking nursing because you wanted to go the United States this is disgusting" anyway she gave me approval of my petition because i passed the requirements...

the nursing school i went into, was one hellish system i discovered, professors took bribe to pass students..

i never paid a single centavo, i did my homework passed my course but it was pins and needles..

this pissed me off-- there are many more examples coming up which clearly shows corruption in many forms...

believe it or not :silly:

I get pissed off with people who tells me to say that I am seeing 'red' when I can clearly see 'blue'. When people inject sensibility in a situation that doesn't require it. :P
