

---

Traveling Man

Posted by Miramar - 2008/06/11 23:14

---

My life style?

Observing the Natural Beauty is my hobby. Traveling to remote and beautiful unique places is my agenda. Knowing the value of Nature's power/strength and beauty is my knowledge/wisdom. As a traveling man, one can wonder what secrets does the nature hold?

I had posted my recent vacation pics on my profile (my pictures). Yo'll can check it out!. The picture of the helicopter that I tour over the valley/city called SEDONA in Northern Arizona State, USA which is nestle among the sandstone pillars crafted by nature (wind/rain) at roughly 4,000 elevation above sea level is truly amazing and awe inspiring beauty of nature's artistic creation that rival to none! Yo'll can see the scenes from the sky high (helicopter tour ride) shots I took it while flying above the valley. The land and the pillars are mix in different colors with red domination and the green lush trees dotted on red soil with the blue back ground sky painted with white clouds is truly the wonder of Nature's Creation thus SEDONA becomes the Capital/Center for Artists' elevated dreams not to mention there are many Art Galleries thriving there.

The top pic is the helicopter that I ride. The middle one is showing the Oak Creek that runs through the city of SEDONA and the bottom one shows the high way that cuts through the heart of the city.

Whenever I had the chance/opportunity and time I find ways to grab it for opportunity does not come often and gaining precious memories is priceless.

=====