
Questions about Asia Observer Site

Posted by linsi - 2008/07/01 16:31

Hi john,

Can we please know

1. Why our shared article does not have a "preview" feature?

2. The slide in the home page about our directory is gone?

:unsure:

I know john is busy
but i might as well mention this to address areas of concerns

i discovered that some of the "default" features involving codes has not been functioning well.

our codes does not generate exact configurations unlike before example postng a size of an image decreasing it to 400 does not work.

i have posted a smaller image which now opens at about a thousand size--:dry:

hmm-- there was a duplicate? :laugh:

i deleted it and copied to my hard drive-because it occupies a lo lot space.
actually the size in the web (google) was about 700 pixel (in my pc) which turned out to be 1,800 lately-

hi john,

i have had a lot of informations, but now i am glad! the codes worked!

Sorry about being late in replying.

For the slide show: It was a very nice feature, I thought. Unfortunately the module stopped working properly and I had to disable it.

From this week Asia Observer has a new web master - username jdam. This is one of the issues I will ask him to look at in due time. But before getting to that he will need to work on some more pressing technical issues to ensure the safe running of the site.

But I am very happy we now have a new web master in place - after some months without. My own technical competence only goes so far, I am afraid.

John

Hello to all AO friends,

John is right, by the way I fixed PM spam problem. Kindly inform us, if you still encounter spam message on your inbox.

regards
