
200 members now - and growing!

Posted by Sandvand - 2007/04/06 00:34

We have reached 200 members on Asia Observer - and doubled our size during the last month! Thanks to everybody for joining.

It is still a small community, I know. But we are confident that Asia Observer will continue to grow. About 700 to 800 people now visit our site on an average day.

Members have several advantages:

They are allowed to share articles with others on the front page

They can post in our forums

Members can create their own profile pages and upload pictures and information about themselves.

Members can connect to other members and also communicate directly with them using our private messaging system.

I encourage more of you to join as members and participate actively on the site. I do believe we can create a very lively and exciting Asia community here.

Welcome as member of Asia Observer!

JohnB)

Re:200 members now - and growing!

Posted by Jacques - 2007/04/07 09:14

I am absolutly sure, John, that you ill get your purpose

Re:200 members now - and growing!

Posted by truthseeker - 2007/04/07 09:30

I have no doubt about it.

I am sure it will grow bigger and bigger as days goes by.

CONGRATULATION FOR THAT!

TS

Re:200 members now - and growing!

Posted by pokkha - 2007/04/07 12:06

This is a great feat for us John! Slowly but surely, we can reach that point of heavy traffic here.

Cheers,
Pokkha
