
Myanmar and the concern of US right group.

Posted by thunderbolts - 2007/04/14 20:29

Dear All.

After reading the following news, I did not know whether to laugh or to cry. This is one of AFP reports on Myanmar and this is about Kayin (KNU) rebels.

" US rights group condemns rebel fighting in Myanmar üABS-CBNNEWS.com - Apr 14 1:30 AM BANGKOK - A US-based rights group on Saturday condemned fresh ethnic fighting in military-run Myanmar and urged neighbouring Thailand to protect hundreds of refugees fleeing the violence."

Please go to AFP for details.

I wonder why US right group does not condemn those who are fighting the rebels in Afghanistan or in Iraq? Well, shall we say Myanmar is our only concern.

As you already know, SPDC had made countless attempts to have ceasefire , peace if possible with the KNU. In the past the successive governments of Union of Burma(Myanmar) made similar attempts and efforts to achieve peace. Many KNU rebels had individually surrendered, many others and their leaders made peace with the government.

They are all free and well look after by the governments. Nobody goes to prison or executed, punished for treason. Even some of them are in the National Convention and taking part in shaping the future Union of Myanmar through New Constitution.

Yet, many KNU extremists stayed behind, While some of their leaders were having talks with the government they were taking advantage and regrouping and rearming themselves and continued fighting against the government. When Government over run them they went into Thailand and seek sanctuary.

United Nation. is also concerned about these rebels, their families and their sympathizers. In the past UN is providing these rebels anything they need. Asking Thailand to protect these KNU Kayin rebels as well.

Sometimes under the influence of some powerful nations such as United States and Britain UN created some rebels and declared war on them instead of stopping the war.

There are lots of Palestinian, Afghans and Iraqi who are trapped in these wars created by UN itself or created by those who are using UN as a stepping stone.

UN never concerned about these people who are trapped in the wars. For example, Palestinians, Afghans, Iraqis ordinary people and rebels alike.

Why is UN so concerned about the KNU Kayin rebels, their families and their sympathizers. United Nation is concerned about how Kayin(KNU) rebels are acquiring arms and ammunition and other military supplies.

Some people believe that UN itself is a puppet of US and UK, especially when the present UN Sec, Gen is happened to be a South Korean from US puppet country.

Some people are questioning is UN a free and independent organization or totally under the influence of US and UK.

In the past Thailand gave sanctuary to these Kayin(KNU) rebels. Recently Thailand itself has a taste of Muslim insurgency in the Southern part of the country. If Thailand did not know how Myanmar was going through then, now Thailand knows how it has to go through. Because Thailand is having its own experience.

I don't think Thailand would like to prolong the Muslim insurgency. How would Thailand feel if Myanmar is harbouring the Muslim insurgents who are fighting against Thailand government to launch attacks on Thailand from Myanmar's soil.

I think and hope Thais are more wiser than I expected.

Thunderbolts.

=====