
Small adjustment in layout

Posted by Sandvand - 2007/04/14 23:12

We have done a small adjustment in the placement of some functions today.

- The login field and private messages have been moved to the top of the left column (above the countries menu).
- The site search has been move to the top of the right column of the pages.
- Below the countries menu in the left column we have added a "Who's online field". It will tell you how many guests and members are visiting the site at any time. Move your mouse over the member names and you will get some more information about them, including link to the profile pages and also to the pictures they have uploaded to their profile page (if any).

I hope you like the small changes. You can post your opinion as a reply to this post.

John

Post edited by: Sandvand, at: 2007/04/14 23:12

Re:Small adjustment in layout

Posted by kayum - 2007/04/15 03:30

One small step for John... One giant leap for John-kind.~)

Minimalist layout + Interesting articles = Success

Good work!

Re:Small adjustment in layout

Posted by Sandvand - 2007/04/15 12:35

Thank you!

John-kind! I like that one!

John:lol:

Re:Small adjustment in layout

Posted by Jon2 - 2007/04/20 10:03

John-kind... haha! :laugh:

I like your layout here in Asia Observer. It's eye-catching and the interface is user-friendly.

Keep up the good work!
