
Paying with your fingerprints

Posted by Kevin - 2007/01/20 21:14

Really cool from Singapore: Now you can pay with your fingerprints
http://www.cio.com/archive/011507/tl_pay.html

What can possibly be next?

=====

Re:Paying with your fingerprints

Posted by admin - 2007/01/21 20:23

Nice to see technology advances :)

As for what could be next - paying with your ears (as they also have unique pattern), or perhaps paying with your DNA (saliva?) :)

Thoughm these two would not be as practical as the fingertips method :)

Rafael

=====

Re:Paying with your fingerprints

Posted by David - 2007/01/21 23:10

I think it is great how Singapore again and again is showing how the tiny island, just by utilizing its smart people, can stay ahead in the technological race.
Keep going!

David

=====

Re:Paying with your fingerprints

Posted by Sandvand - 2007/01/22 00:55

Finger prints is one of the simplest ways to identify a person - and I am sure we will see much more of it. For instance it is already used when you enter the USA.
I don't mind.:)

=====